SOUTHERN TANZANIA BECKONS WITH TAKIMS HOLIDAYS

With tourism in Tanzania steadily increasing, Takims Holidays continues to search for ways to give tourists a taste of 'authentic Africa,' away from the crowds that populate the Ngorongoro Crater and Serengeti National Park in the peak months.

With a traditionally strong presence in Dar es Salaam, Takims Holidays is now pursuing a vigorous marketing campaign to introduce the National Parks of southern Tanzania to the world tourism stage. Selous Game Reserve, Mikumi

National Park, Udzungwa Mountains and Ruaha National Park all feature abundant wildlife, unique boat safaris and walking excursions, and mesmerizing landscapes.

Accessibility has increased to the south with development of road infrastructure and an improvement in scheduled flights. Takims Holidays is able to offer a seamless interface that can add a southern Tanzanian safari experience onto any existing safari program. The parks of the south can now be visited as an add-on to northern Tanzania, or as a stand-alone destination.
